The Department of English, in association with the Literary Club, organized a literary engagement programme on 13 February 2026 for the students of BA Literature. The programme was designed to encourage critical thinking, creative expression, and active participation in literary activities.

As part of the programme, students collected opinions and viewpoints from fellow students and faculty members across the campus on various contemporary issues. These responses were compiled and presented as a source of information and discussion. An orientation session was also conducted on the significance and objectives of the Wall Magazine, highlighting its role as a platform for creative and intellectual expression.

To promote interactive learning, a group activity was organized in which participants explored different perspectives and interpretations of a common topic. The activity encouraged students to appreciate diverse viewpoints and develop their analytical and communication skills.

The programme concluded with the presentation of a video compilation featuring the opinions of non-literature students and faculty members on the relevance of Artificial Intelligence (AI) in literary studies. The discussion focused on how AI is influencing literary works and emphasized the importance of students being both career-oriented and knowledge-oriented in the rapidly evolving academic and professional landscape.
